

Helping You Make A Choice.....

The points numbers we have given are an AVERAGE, this mean that properties can be let on either less or more points than the figures quoted. It also means that each separate property is let on a different amount of points.

How we let the properties we manage

When a property becomes available for letting we ask the computer to run a “match list” for that specific property (every empty property will have it's own list). The list contains everyone who wants that type of property, in that particular area.

The list prints in points order, highest at the top. We offer the property to the person at the top of the list. If it is refused we work our way down the list to those with lesser points. Each separate property is let on a different amount of points depending on type, location, supply and demand.
